

Nassau County Workforce Development Programs

ELIGIBILITY INFORMATION

Through a grant from the Nassau County Office of Community Development, full scholarships for workforce development training courses offered by Nassau Community College's Center for Workforce Development are currently available.

To be eligible for a scholarship, you must meet basic eligibility requirements including:

- Be an unemployed or under-employed Nassau County resident
- Be at least 17 years of age
- Have earned a high school diploma or equivalent*
- Have access to a computer and Wi-Fi (given courses have a remote learning components)
- Meet HUD income eligibility requirements (determination will be based on documentation provided with your application).

More information on workforce development training courses (e.g. EMT, EKG Technician, SHRM-CP/SHRM-SCP, Dental Assisting, Pharmacy Technician, etc.) can be found at this link:

Center for Workforce Development Course Offerings

Workforce Development Scholarship Application link: Scholarship Application

*If you would like information on the high school equivalency exam offered at Nassau Community College, please visit: <https://www.ncc.edu/continuingeducation/hse.shtml>.

For information or to register for high school math and English review courses, go to: <https://www.ncc.edu/continuingeducation/registerconed.shtml>